Attorney General John Ashcroft
US Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Mr. Ashcroft:

I am taking this time to write you regarding the Anti-Trust lawsuit that continues to plague the Microsoft Corporation because I feel your actions on this issue will make a dramatic impact on the American consumer. In spite of the broad range of restrictions imposed, Microsoft's competitors are actively trying to undermine the settlement during this review period. Therefore, it is even more urgent that the government hears directly from the consumers who will be directly impacted by this on-going lawsuit.

Microsoft has undergone three arduous years of scrutiny under the American government and I believe the settlement plan is fair and just. The fact that Microsoft has agreed to not retaliate against other computer competitors, allow competitors to develop software that matches their own, as well as disclose for use by its competitors various interfaces that are internal to Window's operating system products, tells the public and the government that Microsoft is dedicated to supporting a pro-competitive market.

Please take note of my opinions and consider the consumers first when making a decision that will continue to affect the American people. I thank you greatly for your time and consideration in this crucial matter that plagues the ethics of the American tradition.

Sincerely,

Charles Bradley
